Workflow Engine Family pricing

Before you look at a price, decide which product you need. Workflow Engine Free and Workflow Engine are the same library, called from your C# code. Workflow Engine NEO adds a ready HTTP API and multitenancy. Workflow Server is a separate service you run in Docker. The comparison page shows what each product does, what is included, and what needs a paid edition or an add-on. Read it first, and the table below will make sense.

WHO IT'S FOR
Use case	Moving hand-coded C# state machines to Workflow Designer; evaluation, POC, learning, or a small internal application.	Automating your company's processes: approvals, document routing, back-office tasks.	Your company's approval and document workflows: invoices, purchase orders, routing, onboarding.	A public multi-tenant SaaS platform that productizes workflows: CRM, ERP, BPM, document management, HR, insurance.	An internal business application driving workflows over HTTP with the Data API and RPC API, multi-server, dynamic forms.	A public multi-tenant SaaS platform that productizes workflows, under a perpetual license.	Enterprise platforms that resell workflows inside their product (OEM) or deploy white-label at scale.
Best suited for	Moving process logic from code into a visual, versioned model for free, with an easy path to the commercial version.	Teams that want commercial-grade reliability and an upgrade path to NEO without rewriting.	Unlimited usage and horizontal scalability when you build the integration layer yourself, without a HTTP API.	Everything included, always on the latest version, with any support level chosen separately.	The full capabilities of Workflow Engine NEO on a perpetual license, with no recurring fees as you scale.	The complete feature set permanently, under a single-payment perpetual license, with no recurring fees as you scale.	Owning the right to redistribute the engine inside your product, with Forms and BPMN import bundled and 12 months of standard support included. Annual SLA-backed support plans are available separately.

How licensing and updates work

There are no royalties and no per-execution fees. You pay once for a perpetual license, or each year for Workflow Engine NEO Subscription.

1 A perpetual license you own

One payment, per software product you ship, and the license never expires. The engine keeps working on the version you bought even if you never pay again. These editions are perpetual:

- ✓ Workflow Engine Free
- ✓ Workflow Engine Team
- ✓ Workflow Engine Complete
- ✓ Workflow Engine NEO Business
- ✓ Workflow Engine NEO SaaS
- ✓ Workflow Engine NEO Enterprise

Only Workflow Engine NEO Subscription is not. It is a term license that runs while you pay for it each year. It also covers one public web app or SaaS, which Team, Complete and NEO Business do not.

2 365 days of updates included

Every perpetual license includes 365 days of updates from the day of purchase. After that the engine keeps working, but new versions stop arriving. Renewing update access for the next year costs 50% of the license price if you pay before your current period expires. If you renew after it has expired, the renewal costs the full license price. Updates are optional: staying current is required only while a support plan is active.

3 Trials and POC

Trials run 30 to 90 days depending on the product and edition, with a full license key rather than a watermarked or feature-locked build. The trial key is re-issued every 30 days. POC support is free until the key expires and can be extended by agreement with the sales team.

4 Source code access

A 1-year GitHub window is included with NEO Enterprise, an add-on on Complete, NEO Business and NEO SaaS, and unavailable on Team and NEO Subscription. It is used for security review, audit, and in-house builds. The code is provided as is and includes the license verification functionality. After 12 months the library keeps working; further updates and their source can be renewed for another year at 50% of the license price.

Workflow Engine NEO Subscription is the only term license

Every other edition on this page is perpetual: bought once and kept. This one runs while the subscription is paid. The $8,000 covers 365 days of Workflow Engine NEO Subscription with updates included. If it is not renewed before those 365 days are up, the license falls back to the Workflow Engine Free limits: 10 workflow definitions (schemes) and 4 execution threads, with activities, transitions and commands unrestricted. If you need the engine to keep running at full capability without recurring payments, buy one of the perpetual editions instead.

Support included with the license

Every license comes with some support before you buy a plan. How much depends on the product and edition, and the window starts after your purchase and trial period, not on the day you first email us.

Self-serve

FREE · TEAM · NEO SUBSCRIPTION

Documentation and GitHub discussions. No ticket channel is included with the license itself, so add a support plan if you want a committed response time.

2 months

COMPLETE · NEO BUSINESS · NEO SAAS

Two months of direct support from the engineering team, starting after your purchase and trial period, through the same ticket channel as the paid plans.

12 months

NEO ENTERPRISE

Twelve months of standard support after your purchase and trial period, in line with the OEM and white-label commitment behind this edition.

When the included window ends, nothing stops working: you keep the documentation and GitHub discussions, and you can add a paid plan at any time. Reporting a bug or a security issue is free and unlimited for every product and edition, with or without a plan.

What the license grants mean

Personal and internal commercial use, with attribution
FREE
Personal, educational, scientific, or research use, and internal websites and applications inside your company's security perimeter, in production too, with the attribution the license agreement sets out. Does not cover a public web app, a SaaS, or distributing the software to third parties.

Internal commercial use
TEAM · COMPLETE · NEO BUSINESS
Internal websites and internal applications that run inside your company's security perimeter.

Public web application or SaaS
NEO SUBSCRIPTION · NEO SAAS
One SaaS or web application that you provide as a service to any number of third parties outside your perimeter. Platform versions of the same application (web, desktop, iOS, Android) count as that one application; the application is named in the License Statement.

OEM
NEO ENTERPRISE
The engine ships as an integral part of your own product that you provide to third parties, including white-label deployments.

Support plans

Support is a separate annual plan on any paid edition. Trial and POC support is free for 30 days after your first request, runs until the trial key expires, and includes one Google Meet consultation with a presale engineer. One email inquiry carries one question: several questions count as several requests. The full option matrix, side by side with trial support, is on the enterprise support page.

Bugs never use up your tickets
Reporting a bug or a security issue does not count against the ticket allowance of your support plan. We fix defects and security issues in the engine at our own expense, with or without a support plan. Your tickets stay for integration and architecture questions.

Commercial terms

Perpetual on-premise

Keeps working after the update window ends, on the version you bought.

No per-X fees

No royalties, no per-execution, no per-process, no per-tenant fees on single-tenant plans.

Source code access

Included with NEO Enterprise; a 1-year add-on on Complete, NEO Business and NEO SaaS; unavailable on Team and NEO Subscription.

30 to 90 day evaluation

Full key with POC support during the trial, not a watermarked or feature-locked demo.

Workflow Designer in the demo application, with the activities that plugins add to the palette.
